Home Savings And Loan Annual Report Shows 1960 Record Year

Torrance residents joined with nearly one-third million other Southern Californians during 1960 in boosting Home's savings accounts to an all-time high of $765,529,777. The 12-month increase of $154 million is over double the growth of savings accounts ever recorded without merger in any 12-month period by a savings and loan association. The number of savings accounts placed with Home Savings boomed upwards by almost 47,000 in 1960 reaching a total of 225,100 at year end.

Home Savings poured a record total of $30,894,205 back to its savers in earning payments in 1960, providing a tremendous reservoir of purchasing power and increased family security. During 1960 earnings were paid at the annual rate of 4 1/4% compounded every three months. This rate will continue for the first quarter of 1961, Ahmanson said.

LARGEST IN NATION

Record-smashing performances by its Torrance office and 23 other Southern California branches gave Home Savings and Loan Association five world records for its industry during 1960, Howard Ahmanson, chairman of the board, announced.

Total assets, savings, real estate loans, reserves, and earnings paid to savers were the highest in the 71-year-old history of the nation's largest savings and loan association, and the highest ever recorded anywhere in the world by a financial institution of this kind.

With more branch offices than any other savings and loan association in the nation, Home Savings has grown with the communities in Los Angeles, Orange and San Bernardino Counties that it serves, and its offices have played major roles in the lives of home owners and savers in the area.

TORRANCE A PART

The largest supplier of home building and home-buying funds among the nation's savings and loan associations, Home Savings played an important part in the continued growth of this community. At the end of 1960, the institution had a total of $728,305,205 in real estate loans outstanding, a net increase of $109 million during the past 12 months. Home Savings set a one-month record when it placed $27,668,000 in real estate loans last June.

Assets, the principal yardstick of growth, gained $125,226,024 during the past year, or 17%, over 1959 year-end, raising the total to $862,031,734, the greatest ever achieved by a savings and loan association.

At the end of 1960, Home Savings had a reserve fund of $70,467,290, the highest ever achieved in the industry and double the reserves of any other association in the world. During the past year Home Savings' reserves grew by $10,074,056, Ahmanson reported.

List 86 Vehicles For Every Mile Of City Streets

California now has approximately 86 motor vehicles for every mile of city streets and county roads in the State.

So said State Controller Alan Cranston as he issued a report on street and road financial transactions for 1959-60 that disclosed total expenditures of $292,683,659.

Of this amount, $169,516,529, or approximately 58 percent, was spent on 30,397 miles of city streets and the remaining $123,167,130 on 69,422 miles of county roads, Cranston said.

Combined expenditures in 1958-59 were $290,188,908.

Cranston said the total number of vehicles in the State at the close of the 1959-60 fiscal year, including those exempt from registration fees, was $623,871, compared with $667,641 for the prior year.

59-60 EXPENDITURES

Major street and road expenditure totals for 1959-60 were the $129,449,884 spent for maintenance. The balance went for engineering and administration, and for acquisition of rights of way, equipment, and other real property.

Cranston noted that the City of Los Angeles, with 5782 miles of city streets, accounts for nearly one fifth of the total street mileage in the State. San Bernardino County's 4596 miles of roads is tops in the county category.

Principal revenue sources for streets and roads include the gasoline tax, other state and federal subventions, local general funds, bonds, taxes for road purposes, and traffic fines and forfeitures.

Various depositories held total restricted balances of $75,402,974 for cities and $59,579,886 for counties at the close of the 1959-60 fiscal year. This money is earmarked for street and road expenditures.

Newspapers Will Compete for TB's Higby Award

Five entries from Los Angeles county have been submitted in the statewide competition for the annual Higby award sponsored by the California Tuberculosis and Health Association in recognition of mass media's interpretation of any phase of local tuberculosis or health programs, it was announced this week by Mrs. A. W. Warnock, 4200 Miraleste Dr., San Pedro, chairman of the TB association's Bay Cities area regional advisory committee.

Mrs. Warnock said that editorials published in three metropolitan newspapers, an editorial cartoon and a film of a television news broadcast have been submitted from this area. The Higby Award serves to recognize newspapers, radio and television stations for the job they do in interpreting the tuberculosis problem to the public and the award carries with it a $250 cash prize for the author.
